Women Debaters Third in Tourney

The Omaha University women's debate team won three and lost three contests in the Nebraska Intercollegiate Forensic Association Tournament held at Lincoln, Neb., March 15 and 16. Hastings College squad won the meet without losing a decision. Hosts to the forensic tournament was Nebraska Wesleyan University. Bernice Perlmeter and Josephine Carroll were the Omaha University debaters.

"Editor Is Pitifully Uninformed"

Omaha, Nebraska
March 20, 1935

Dr. William E. Sealock
Omaha University
Omaha, Nebraska

Dear Sir:

In regard to the meeting of "The Women's Organization for Good Government" under whose auspices Rev. George E. Mortensen spoke last Wednesday, March 13th, I want to call attention to the article appearing in "The Gateway" dated March 15th, under the caption "Omaha Faculty denounced by Woman Speaker," which was erroneously reported by managing editor of that paper, Martin Speckter. Mrs. Sadie Harris conducted a short discussion at the close of the address. "Omaha Faculty" was not "denounced by Mrs. Harris" or Rev. Martensen. Mrs. Harris did not say: "Dr. Sealock has told me that he is not frightened by any communist scares. I have shown him proof, but he still refuses to be frightened," or "that the leading American educators were 'uninformed,'" or that "They know nothing of these things, and will not be taught."

But she did say, "There is no finer group of people in the world than teachers as a whole. Nevertheless when any one of them cites the small membership of the communist party as proof that communism is no menace in our country he shows that he is uninformed. Radical educators such as Scott Nearing, John Dewey and Geo. S. Counts, do certainly know what they are doing. Others who are apparently uninformed about what this 'new social order' really is, do not investigate."

In regard to the editorial "Radicals at Omaha University?" the editor is referring to Mrs. Harris and Rev. Mortensen as "emotional and misguided" simply indicts himself as one who is pitifully uninformed. Both these people have ample evidence for what they say. Mrs. Harris has conducted a series of meetings for this group and has presented an abundance of material to substantiate her statements.

Respectfully,

CMR:MLC

MRS. C. M. RICHARDS.

DANCE DRAWS 300

The Alpha Sigma Lambda formal held Friday night, March 15, at the Fontenelle, attracted one hundred and fifty couples, dancing to the music of the College Club orchestra. Carleton Williams, '35, was chairman of the dance committee. Preceding the dance activities of the chapter entertained their dates at parties.

Dr. James Returns For a Short Visit

Dr. James returned to school for a short visit Wednesday after prolonged absence since last semester. He expressed his thanks to the school for the interest the students and faculty have shown in his recovery.

Students Take Part In Religious Play

Seven University of Omaha students are members of the Central Repertoire company who will present William Rann Kennedy's play, "A Servant in the House," at the Central High auditorium, March 26 and 29. This is the second annual religious drama to be given by this group under the auspices of the Omaha Council of Churches.

Roles will be played by Amy Rohacek, '37; Virginia Lee Long, '37; Paul Brawner, '35; Don Hamilton, '37; Howard H. Fischer, '34; Eileen Christiansen, '35, has charge of costumes.

TRACK TEAM TO HOLD FIRST DRILL OF YEAR MONDAY

Two-Week Informal Workout Brought to Close.

VETS TO RETURN

The first track workout of the year will be held at the Science Hall field Monday afternoon, Coach Sed Hartman announced Thursday. A number of candidates have been working out informally the past two weeks.

Several veterans from last year's squad are expected to greet Coach Hartman at Monday's workout. Howard Sorenson, N. I. A. A. shot-put champion, will be one of the vets on hand.

Others expected include Jack Nieman, Cliff Anderson, Bill Nelson, Harold Johnk, LeRoy Olson, Leo Pearey, Norman Sorenson, "Tippy" Tyler, and Joel Thompson. The Cardinals will compete with both N. I. A. A. and North Central track teams this year. The North Central conference meet will be held at Brookings, S. D., May 23 and 24.

The Cardinals finished third in the N. I. A. A. meet at Kearney last spring.

Business Ad. Club Visits FCA Office

The Business Administration club, inactive a year, was organized Friday during convocation period. The following officers were elected: President, Olive Musli; vice presidents in charge of membership, LeRoy Olson and Anita Stowell; secretary, Robert Norelius.

"The purpose of the club is to conduct tours to various downtown offices, bring speakers to the University, and enable the business students to become better acquainted with one another," said Dr. J. H. Rhoads, faculty sponsor.

Thursday the club sponsored a tour through the Farm Credit Administration offices. Students were shown the operation of the filing system, the tabulating machines, accounting departments, and given a general idea of methods employed to handle the volume of loans cleared through the office.

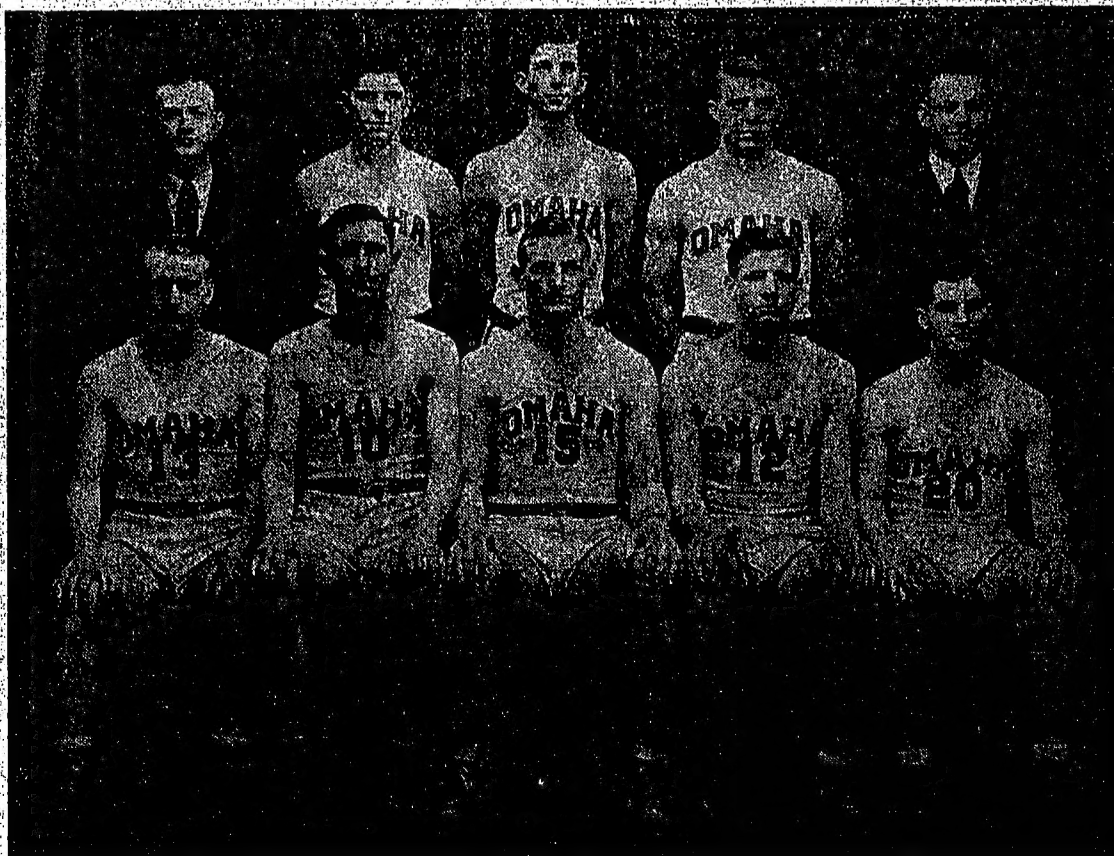

Speech Class In "Mock Banquet"

Mrs. Jean Jarmin's Tuesday evening public speaking class this week staged a mock banquet in the University auditorium, with Lucille Mitchell acting as toastmistress.

Arthur King spoke on "Inspection," Evelyn Bartlett talked "Contact," and Walter Damon spoke on "Take Off." Others taking part were Eileen Christensen, Bonnie Smith, and Harold Johnk.

Thomas Organ, member of this year's graduating class, has been elected principal of Union High school, Union, Neb.

PLAYBOYS AND COLLEGE

THE "rah-rah boy" of the nineteen twenties who came to college for a good time has been replaced on the campus by the student interested in world affairs, government, and economics, Dr. Walter A. Jessup of the Carnegie Foundation recently declared. We hasten to add our fervent "Amen" to Dr. Jessup's utterances.

As at other universities, serious minded students are much more in evidence at Omaha than five years ago, and today make up a strong minority. Especially is this true since the curriculum was modernized two years ago. Economic necessity has forced students to think more of contemporary affairs while the revised curriculum has encouraged the study of the problems that plague the world today. While student interest in public affairs has increased of late, exactly the opposite is true of campus politics. A student election today excites no one. Students are no longer ready to do and die for dear old Theta Phi Delta, Pi Omega Pi, or alma mater.

As Editor Chandler Harris of the California Daily Bruin wired the Literary Digest: "The depression killed Joe College. Economic necessity has forced thought into the life of college students. Foolish hazing and tradition, exorbitantly expensive fraternities, excessive drinking and gambling, are disappearing. Serious thought on economics and political problems is increasing."

Sally Rand was once a student in the school of Journalism at Columbia university, New York City.

GROWTH OF OMAHA UNIVERSITY

THE way in which Omaha University has forged ahead in the past four years is adequately reflected by a comparison of the number of graduates in 1935 with those of 1931. The class of 1935 numbers 85, while the last graduating class previous to acquisition of the University by the city of Omaha consisted of 35 students.

The number of graduates has increased with each year. As long as the University remains in its present quarters, however, growth will be slow. The present quarters have greatly retarded the expansion of the University. If the University were provided with adequate quarters, enrollment would increase by several hundred students and the scope of the University's influence would expand in a similar proportion.

"The Anatomy and Histology of the Transition Region of Trapapogon Porrifolia" is the title of a Ph. D. thesis at Ohio State university.

TRANSFERRING CREDITS

IT is sometimes asserted that credits received for work at Omaha University cannot be transferred to other universities. This assertion has no factual basis and is a holdover from the days when the University was a private institution. It does not hold true today.

Omaha University credits can be transferred to any university in the United States. Although the lack of suitable buildings has prevented recognition by the North Central Association of Colleges, the University has been accredited by several leading universities, among which are Chicago, Nebraska, Kansas, and Iowa universities.

Hell Week is too primitive, according to Dr. Theophile Raphael, of Michigan university.

The various departments at Pennsylvania State college make their own rules about unexcused absences.

Fraternities at the University of Michigan have been asked to save one job in their kitchens or dining rooms for an athlete.

Doorway Shall Not Swing Tonight

By MACY BAUM

What? No swinging door?
Yes, dear readers, no swinging door.

It is with a tug at our heart and a hitch at our trousers that we bring ourselves to confess that the installation of a swinging door at the entrance to The Gateway office will not take place.

The faculty committee which made this suggestion last week has had a change of heart on the matter, so this glorious addition to our editorial sanctum, so eagerly anticipated by our thousands of friends and admirers, will not be added to our editorial sanctum.

Yes, dear readers, we, too, were looking forward to the fun and enjoyment that would be ours when we could race into the faculty building, leap aboard The Gateway's swinging door, and, shouting a wild "Tally Ho" to the rafters, go zooming through space, let the FERA workers land where they may.

Alas! It is not to be.

It seems that there were those among us who regarded the proposed swinging door merely as a step to higher things, such as sawdust on the floor, a brass rail, etc., etc.

So there'll be no swinging door.

Thru The Keyhole

After seeing Brawler's technique I have decided his nickname should be "Caesar" (seize her).... My "Fran" Nelson seems to be going pretty well now that he knows Hartman better.... And did you know that Mrs. Bradfield calls her husband "Brad" for short?... Boldenow seems to have appointed himself guardian of Eloise Johnson lately.... Did you know that Janet Hamilton goes to church three times on Sunday, plays the organ and sings in the choir?

WEEKLY WANT AD—Anyone having a young lady acquaintance, beautiful, well built and not over five foot four, please get in touch with me, as I would like to make your acquaintance.

REMEMBER—It isn't always the keyhole that is well oiled.

AFTERTHOUGHT—What was that last stuff we had to drink, he cried, as he fell into a stupor.... Somebody always leaves the lid off the stupor.... And you must never end a sentence with a preposition.... always use a proposition.

SOCIAL EVENT—Marjorie Clark is giving a very formal "coming out" party this week-end.... Guests of honor will be two rather well-worn tonsils.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK—If all the members of the Student Council were laid end to end it would still be a good idea.

The Student Council and the administration are doing right well by themselves. Now they have our money, our vote, and our freedom to smoke. I wish to make several recommendations which may be of some help (thanks to Fran Nelson).

Try snuff; according to our ancestors it was pretty fair stuff.... even if it did make some of them a little dizzy, they were used to falling out of trees in those days. Snuff said.

Try cut plug or any old cigar butts you may pick up. This suggestion is personally recommended and endorsed by Cliff Anderson.

Forget the whole thing and go ahead as before, sneaking around behind trees, bushes and faculty members, eating your stolen fruit.

Just because the school has refused us a men's smoking room is no reason for you girls to lay down on the job. Don't call the school archaic, but remember that we can't have archaic and eat it, too.

THOUGHT OF SPRING (says Knipprath). Who were the two couples dancing the special Alpha Sig number, that didn't belong on the floor?... Lost in the fog in the biology lab.... Tietz had the thrill of fixing a flat at 2:00 o'clock Saturday morning.... heh, heh, and no spare.... There has been a sudden craving for popcorn lately, especially about 10:00 at nite.... And an oak tree fell on little Audrey's mother. Little Audrey laughed and laughed because she knew her mother couldn't cariooca.... Adios, amigos.

This business of anonymous publications is getting to be a menace. The papers themselves aren't so bad; we can stand them. But they've inspired some of our Gateway staff members to poetry, and that's serious. Herewith we offer the latest and the worst:

It's a rigid stipulation
There shall be no circulation
Of sheets without the approbation
Of the Board of Publication.

It's a flagrant violation
Of the rule and regulation
By some secret organization.
This is lewisy alliteration.—G. K.

Theta Formal Dance To be Held March 30

Theta Phi Delta fraternity will give a formal dinner-dance, with Art Maro's orchestra playing, at the Fontenelle, Saturday, March 30. Arrangements for the dance have been made by a committee composed of John Moucha, '36, Glen Cunningham, '35, Lewis Leigh, '37, and Francis Nelson, '37.

The sponsors of the fraternity, L. M. Bradfield, Dr. Claude W. Stimson, and S. L. Witman, will be the guests of honor.

"Being In Love" Most Important, Dean Tells Club

By FRAN NELSON

What's sauce for the goose is sass for "Agenda." Dr. W. H. Thompson, dean of men, speaking to the Agenda club at the Fontenelle Monday evening, gave the fourth in a series of six talks on personality.

Using "Beauty and the Beast" as his theme he pointed out that man is controlled by his emotions, not by what he thinks. "For that reason his personality can be ugly or beautiful, according to the emotions he expresses," the Dean said.

He didn't explain the phenomena of the sleeping beauty, but he implied that college students knew all about her anyway. Only at one point in his lecture was there any confusion. Perhaps Dr. Thompson didn't make it clear enough that he was telling a joke when he stated that a man may be a republican or a democrat because his father was, but he wouldn't necessarily be a bachelor because his father was.

He also pointed out that "Love in Bloom" is the constant state of being for the college student. If it is true that love, as the most powerful of all emotional outlets, is the greatest and the most important, then why shouldn't the business of being in love be the most important business of the student? It has always been thought it was impractical to mix business with pleasure, but this seems to be the answer. One might include monkey business and college business in the same category except for the fact that a few monkeys don't go to college.

Next week, Dr. Thompson will use for the theme of his address, "Down Queer Street."

Elizabeth Wendland, '33, has been re-elected to her teaching post at the Tingley (Iowa) high school.

Diamond Loves Girls' Sports For "Fun Of It" Only

By CECIL DE LONG

Miss Ruth Diamond, director of the Women's Physical Education Department, came to Omaha in 1931 from the University of Nebraska, where she received a Bachelor of Science degree. Later she studied in New York and obtained a Master's degree from the University of Columbia.

While she supports and participates in all forms of women's sports, she personally prefers hockey, basketball and swimming. At Columbia, her attention was focused on creative dancing, and it is in that field that she is most interested. It is, incidentally, through this channel that the attention of other colleges and universities is becoming centered on the University of Omaha Women's Physical Education Department.

Miss Diamond exemplifies those qualities which she would, through athletics, instill into the girls of her department. She believes that sport should be entered into for the "fun of it" and for the exercise it provides. While an all-around athletic program develops for the individual girl, poise, ability to think quickly, resoluteness of character, and good health, the competitive spirit should be left out, and the desire to participate in athletics to the extent of crowding out all feminine characteristics is strongly tabooed by Miss Diamond.

Students, Faculty Praised by Dean

Omaha University students and faculty members both came in for a bit of praise from Dr. W. H. Thompson, dean of men, in a statement to The Gateway Thursday morning.

"The way the students and instructors have co-operated with our new smoking rules indicates the splendid spirit of the student body and faculty in making the best of our crowded conditions," said Dr. Thompson.

The new rules, passed by a faculty committee last week, prohibits smoking in any of the university buildings because of insurance regulations. It applies to faculty members, also.

Mr. Paul D. Hayne, recently reported in The Gateway as having been re-elected to his present position as superintendent of schools at Kilgore, has been elected to the superintendency of public schools at Shelton, Neb., at a sizeable increase in salary. E. M. Hosman said Wednesday.

"Rising Tide" On Campus Monday

The third weekly issue of the anonymous publication which has been circulating on the campus made its appearance on Monday, March 18. The issue was entitled "Rising Tide, Irrigation for Mental Drouth and a Source of General Irritation."

The leaflet contained excerpts from the works of Everett D. Martin, Francis Bacon, John Galsworthy, Gilbert Murray and Abraham Lincoln. The content was similar to that of the earlier issues.

A number of books were recommended for the reader to "ride," among which were "Mein Kampf" and "The Red Network."

Alpha Sigs Plan All-Night Stag

Alpha Sigma Lambda fraternity held a regular meeting Monday, March 18, at the Fontenelle hotel. Arrangements were made to hold an all-night stag during spring vacation, probably at Camp Gifford, Kenneth Hargrove, president, said.

Who Is It?

A red-headed Theta, very active in student affairs, both on and off the campus. A member of the Board of Student Publications, he has worked on The Gateway for three years. During this time his work showed him remarkably adept at minding other people's business.

Recently won an expensive pipe and six cans of tobacco for writing one of the hundred best letters on why he likes a certain brand of tobacco that he never smoked.

Two Vets Back For Golf Team

With spring thoughts have turned to minor sports. Golf and tennis have become more important in the last years and now that the University is in the North Central Conference there should be more incentive for gaining positions on the two teams.

The golf team will have two veterans back for further competition. Bob Anthes, school champion, and Howard Wilcox will form the nucleus of the team.

The tennis team will have three vets back to carry on the undefeated record of the 1934 team. Joe Greenstone, school champion, Bob Brown and Joe Barker are back again this season.

Chem. Club Hears Address on "Water"

R. N. Perkins, of the Perkins Laboratories, spoke before the Chemistry club, Friday, March 15, at the Science hall, on "Swimming Pool Water."

"Several conditions must be eliminated to cope with difficulties present in swimming pool water. These are the alkalinity of the water, the presence of free carbon dioxide, which is the 'food' for algae; and the addition of chlorine to combat bacteriological organisms," Mr. Perkins said.

Gridders Get First Taste Of Scrimmage In Drill Thursday

Omaha university's football candidates received their first taste of grid scrimmage Thursday afternoon when two Cardinal elevens engaged in a regulation contest.

Coach Sed Hartman has been working out his 27 gridgers for the past two weeks, but yesterday was the first time he permitted them to take the field for real play.

Leo Pearey, regular fullback last year, and Howard Sorensen, all-conference tackle on the 1934 team, captained the scrimmage teams. Sorensen's squad included Norman Sorensen, Jerry Gardner, Frank Crawford, Martin Oelrich, Loren Gammon, Caruth Wagner, Tom Jones, Bill Nelson, Royce Brown, "Tippy" Tyler, and John Donlon. Members of Pearey's team were Morrie Loder, Jack Niemann, Russell Riggins, Will Adams, Harold Johnk, Bob Frink, Cliff Anderson, George Shackelford, Glenn Taylor, Melvin Boldenow, Niel Huff, Ed Kersenbrock, and Benny Johnson.

Hartman has had 18 veterans and nine new candidates working out since the start of spring practice. Outstanding performances among the backfield candidates has been turned in by Leo Pearey. Passing and plunging ace of last year's championship outfit, Pearey has been showing continued prowess at hurling the pigskin and will again be the key of the Cardinals' passing attack.

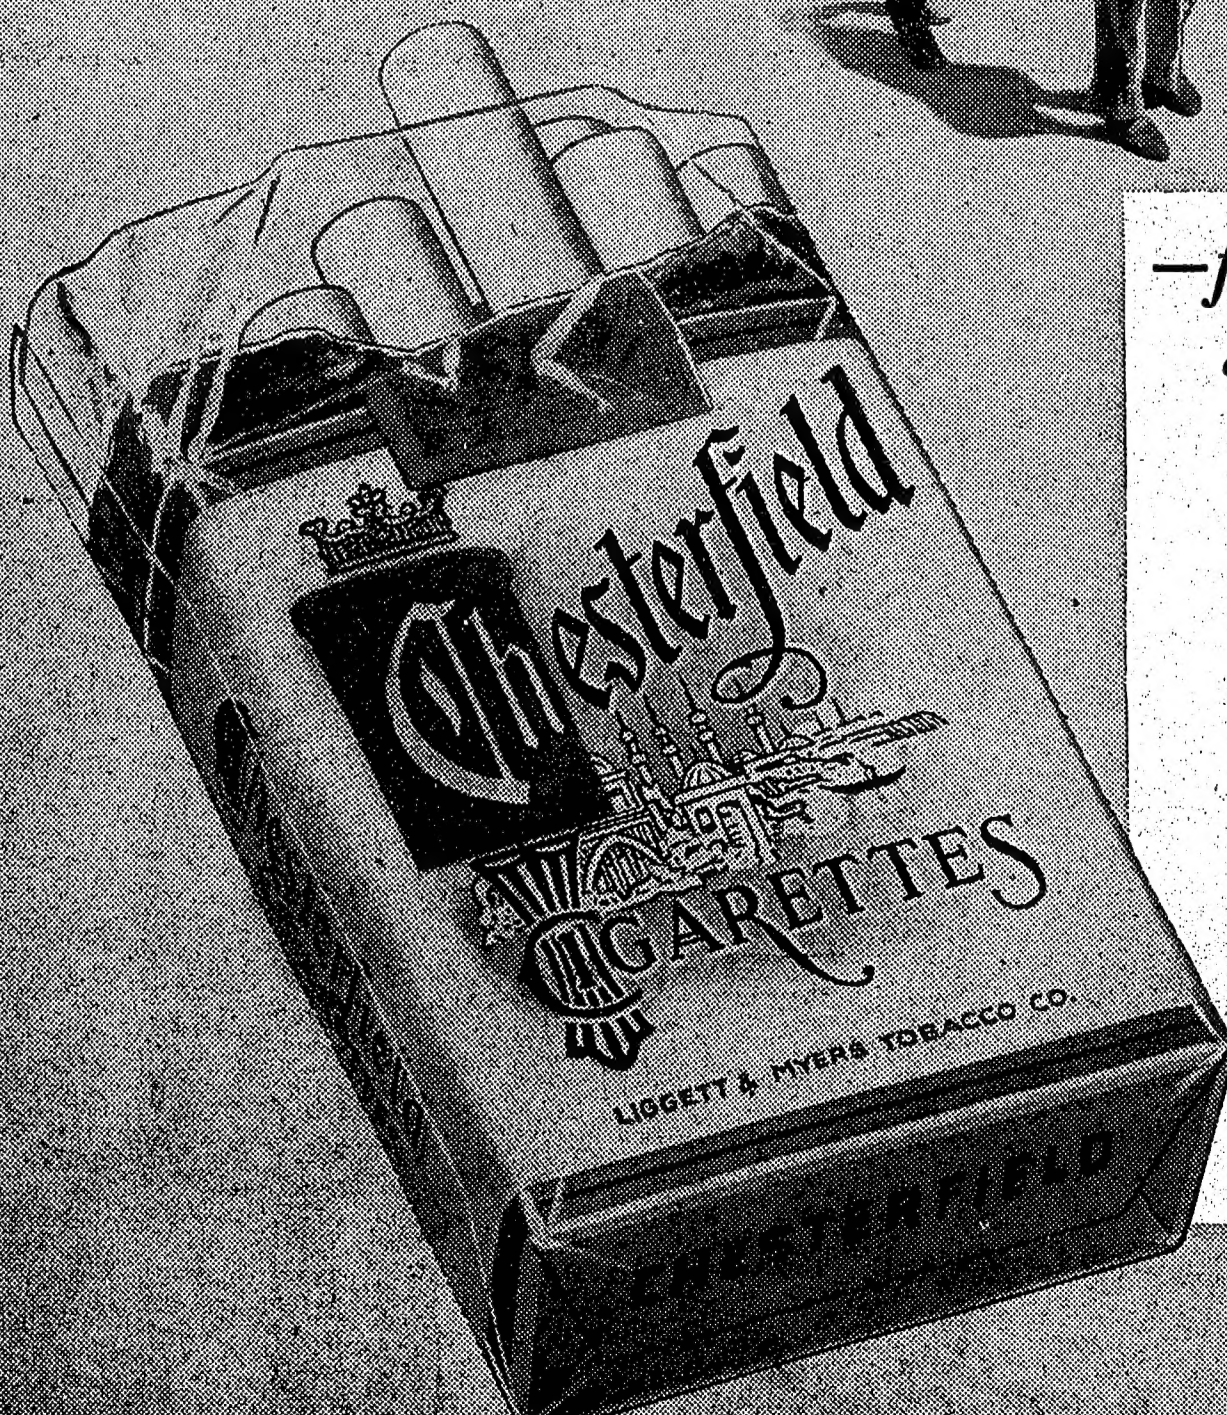

With only one experienced player, Norman Sorensen, returning for an end job, Hartman has been concentrating on wing posts during the spring drills.

Former Student On Campus Wednesday

Edgar A. Randall, former Omaha University student, was on the campus Wednesday visiting faculty members and former classmates.

He is a junior in the School of Business Administration at the University of Chicago. He was awarded a scholarship to the Chicago institution in 1933. He worked in the accounting department of the Eastman Kodak Company of Rochester, New York last summer.

Miss Velma Smith has been elected to the position as teacher of district school 43, in Douglas county.

Turkish tobacco leaf is so tiny that each of these bales contains from 70 to 80 thousand leaves.

But there's another and greater difference—Turkish is the most spicy and aromatic tobacco in the world.

We have Chesterfield buyers in all the tobacco markets of Turkey and Greece, including Xanthi, Cavalla, Smyrna and Samsoun.

And when you blend and cross-blend aromatic Turkish tobacco with mild ripe home-grown tobaccos as we do in Chesterfield
